The Friends of The Hudson Review

In Autumn 2000, we launched The Friends of The Hudson Review to give our loyal readers an opportunity to participate in our vibrant literary adventure and to support our outstanding writers. The overwhelming response from subscribers has been heartwarming, and we thank all of our Friends, old and new, for their generosity. In particular, we wish to acknowledge by name those who chose to contribute at the Centenary level to provide major support to The Hudson Review during its second half-century.
